

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
September 12, 2003

Contact:	Barbara Keepes Division Manager (503) 684-8229 barbara@flightcom.net	Dan Levy PR Specialist (402) 421-8159 dlevy@neb.rr.com
-----------------	---	---

Flightcom Celebrates 20th Anniversary with Pilot Essay Contest

Portland, Oregon—On the eve of the company’s 20th anniversary, Flightcom announced that it will celebrate with a pilot-inspired essay contest. Flightcom’s For the Fun of Flying Contest gives pilots a chance to, in 50 words or less, explain “the fun of flying” in their own words. Flightcom will award prizes for the best 20 essays, including headsets, intercoms and accessories. A grand-prize winner will also be named, receiving four Denali ANR headsets for his or her winning essay.

“We couldn’t think of a better way to celebrate 20 years of success than with the aviators who helped us achieve it,” said Barbara Keepes, Flightcom’s division manager. “Pilots are passionate about flying. We thought this would be a great way to let them express that passion and help us celebrate the company’s milestone.”

Each short essay will begin with the phrase, “For me, the fun of flying is...” All entries will be judged on content, creativity, writing style and proper use of language. Initial judging will be done by Flightcom, with finalists being selected by the editorial staff from AOPA Pilot Magazine. According to Keepes, “AOPA is an organization dedicated to fostering the spirit of aviation. That’s what the For the Fun of Flying contest is all about. We are pleased that selected AOPA magazine writers and editors have agreed to help us with our contest.”

Online entry forms and contest details can be found at Flightcom’s web site: www.flightcom.net. Flightcom will also be accepting entries at their booth at the AOPA Expo, October 30 — November 1, 2003. The For the Fun of Flying Contest begins October 1, and ends November 30, 2003.

Since 1983, Flightcom Corp., has manufactured headsets, intercoms, digital voice recorders and related accessories for the general and corporate aviation industries, as well as for military use. A leading manufacturer of cockpit communications, Flightcom’s products are distributed worldwide through an extensive dealer network. For more information, contact Flightcom at (800) 432-4342 or at sales@flightcom.net.